Nancy Wynne Tells of the Debut of Miss Annis Lee Tunis Yesterday Afternoon—Miss Elizabeth Dale Willson Will Be Introduced Today

ONE of the prettiest teas of the season was given yesterday afternoon by Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Tunis, to introduce their daughter, Annis Lee Tunis, who is usually known under her second name by the other Tunis children, and very attractive. Lee is fair and dainty like her mother, who was Miss Annis Lee Furness, and wore the sweetest frock of pink silk in the most luscious rose-tinted shade. It was made with a tight bodice, with ruffles of gold net, and the full skirt had extended hips, while the giraffe was fastened at one side of the waist-line with a cluster of flowers. She carried pink roses and looked as if she had just stepped out of the frame of a lovely old-fashioned painting.

Mrs. Tunis, who is quite petite and has beautiful wavy hair, wore a gown of white chiffon draped artistically and caught at one hip with a bunch of white French bowknots. Mrs. Horace Howard Furness and Mrs. Collesbury Purves presided at the tea-table. The tea was given at the Tunis town house, 2216 Drexel place. They were introduced recently from their Chestnut Hill home.

TODAY the other Tunis, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tunis, brother and sister-in-law of Dr. Joseph Tunis, will give a tea with Mrs. Elliott Perot Bissell at the Acorn Club, to introduce their niece, Elizabeth Dale Willson, the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Willson, who was Miss Dorothy Wurts, of this city. She is a granddaughter of the late Dr. Charles Wurts, whose home was for many years at the corner of Seventeenth and Walnut streets. The house has been razed, and the site is occupied by a business building. It was in that house that Mrs. Tunis, Mrs. Bissell and Mrs. Willson were introduced at tea. They are sisters of Charles Stewart Wurts, who married Miss Bessie Wister, and of Robert Kennedy Wurts, who is near Mrs. Katherine Newbold, a sister of Mr. Edward McCullough.

THE First Club will hold one of its interesting teas this afternoon at the clubhouse, 1014 Latimer street, from 4 until 6 o'clock. Mrs. Robert von Moschitzky will be hostess. The club has a running collection of English color engravings on its walls at present. Mrs. Jasper Yates Brinton is president of the club.

THE other day when I was out at the Philadelphia Cricket Club watching the tryouts for the All-Philadelphia hockey team I thought more than ever how remarkable it is that all the members of the Dixon family excel in athletics.

Of course, Miss Molly Thayer, whose mother was a Miss Dixon, is well known as one of the most prominent tennis players in the city, and Miss Margaret Dixon, Mr. Thomas Dixon's daughter, is one of the best of the younger golfers. Miss Margaret Rhapsody, whose mother was Mrs. Susan Dixon, is a wonderful ice skater and is active in the Skating Club.

Miss Louise Dixon, a daughter of the late T. Henry Dixon, has won a great many honors at Westley in athletics, and her older sister, Mrs. Edward Kramblour, who was Miss Helen Dixon, is president of the Hockey Association of Philadelphia (I think that is its correct name), and a very good hockey player. That's quite an unusual record for one family, isn't it? The latest member of the family to achieve fame in athletics is Emma Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Norris's daughter (Mrs. Norris was Miss Emma Dixon, a sister of Miss Margaret Dixon), Emma, who is a sub-100 and still in school, is captain of the Irwin School hockey team and one of the best players. In fact, I have heard a great many people say that she will probably make the All-Philadelphia

Lack of self-possession is only another way of disregarding details like standing, sitting and walking. They may be learned at slight expense.
